Design & Health

Introducing the 12th World Congress 12-16 July 2017

European Healthcare Design in a Global Perspective

The scientific programme will explore the global application of salutogenic perspectives on European healthcare design

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

We are delighted to invite you to participate in the 12th World Congress on Design & Health (WCDH 2017) in partnership with the Austrian government and in collaboration with world-renowned academic institutions and healthcare industries.

The Congress host city, Vienna with music, art and architecture, is a multicultural metropolis and has been listed as top in the world for quality of living by the Mercer Quality of Living Survey.

The Scientific program will open with a welcome speech by the Honorable Dr Pamela Rendi Wagner, Austrian Minister of Health, on 13 July. Keynote speakers will present the most innovative research and practical findings in the field of design and health and the role of health infrastructure to promote safety, health and wellbeing.

Since 1997, the first Congress in Trondheim – Norway, many projects have been presented at our congresses, and researchers and policy makers from across the world have investigated and developed scientific evidence of salutogenic design. Collectively, this effort represents a powerful scientific platform for researchers, policymakers and practitioners to demonstrate and implement salutogenic design worldwide. Our congress is unique in that we celebrate these achievements and critically review the role of salutogenic approach in global healthcare design.

During the last two decades the IADH network members have been inspired by what they have seen and what they have learned, and have incorporated a salutogenic approach in their work and their lives. According to WHO, it is inevitable that the individual's lifestyle has an immense impact on health. Accordingly, health promotion is "the process of enabling people to increase control over and to improve their health" and the environment as a strategic, cost effective and enduring tool for improving public health.

The WCDH 2017 provides an opportunity to engage with the world's foremost interdisciplinary network of architects, designers, health planners, engineers, public health scientists, physicians, health administrators, psychologists, economists and other key decision-makers.

The pre-congress program will focus on leadership, governance and government healthy policy planning with global trends, and the post-congress study tour includes visits to Vienna's leading healthcare facilities and other innovative built environments.

The high quality of the research presentations in combination with a fascinating range of stimulating case studies, a trade show displaying the latest innovations and solutions in the field, and a varied social and cultural program, will ensure participants enjoy a remarkable experience in Vienna. A ministerial panel discussion concludes the Congress, with the participation of Health Ministers to discuss the challenges of investment for health promotion and the future of European Healthcare Design.

The annual Design & Health International Academy Awards will be presented at the beautiful and historical building of City Hall in Vienna. The awards will be supported by an international judging process.

We look forward to seeing you in Vienna, to greeting old friends and making new ones. Join us at the opening ceremonies to celebrate the 12th World Congress and Exhibition on Design and Health from 12 -16 July 2017 in the beautiful historical and musical city of Vienna.
